

Call for photographs

We would like to encourage readers to submit any suitable cloud- and weather-related photos to be considered for publication in Weather. Images showing unusual weather conditions or severe weather are particularly encouraged, in addition to images showing good examples of different cloud types, rare clouds, or optical phenomena. Images depicting seasonal scenes are also particularly welcome. Landscape or portrait format images are acceptable (portrait for front cover images, and landscape for inside cover and photo page images).

Please note, we require that readers own the copyright of submitted images, or have permission to submit from the copyright owner. In the event of publication, copyright will remain with the copyright owner. Authors of published photographs will receive a complimentary copy of the issue within which their photo appears.

Please submit your images by email to rmetsphotos@gmail.com

Thank you, and happy photographing! Matt Clark (RMetS and Weather Photo Editor).
